

Fringe Benefits Catalogue TU Wien

Individual fringe benefits for TU Wien employees

Financial benefits

Information: Human Resources Administration

Information: HR Development and Health

Information: Building Engineering (GUT)

Information: TU Cafeteria

The Pension Fund is an instrument of employee retirement insurance offering the possibility of receiving an additional pension to supplement the statutory public pension. Additional pensions form pension funds constitute the second pillar of retirement incorme. They are an important supplement to the statutory pension.

TU Wien under certain conditions supports its employees in the framework of career development - including with specific continuing education measures conductes by outside providers. These development goals are defined in the annually

Employees have the opportunity of renting a parking space on special terms,

Employees have the opportunity of dining in the university cafeteria at reduced

	Benefits in kind
Special conditions with various companies	Some companies (travel agencies, apothecaries, etc.) offer TU Wien employees products and services at reduced rates.
	Information: Human Resources Administration, Works Council

rates.

held employee interviews.

Pension Fund **)

Grants for outside education courses *)

Subsidised parking spaces

Discount in the university cafeteria

Benefits in kind

Inhouse continuing education and training programmes	Inhouse career development programmes for specific target groups are directed at all employees and cover diversified curriculum fields. Information: HR Development and Health
Customised human resources development measures	Individual measures for assistance and specialised support in the form of mediation through to team seminars and demand-oriented initiatives are designed by Human Resources Development. Information: HR Development and Health
University Library Services	No annual fee and automatic renewal of the library card as long as employment with TU Wien is maintained. Information: University Library Services
Benefits for employees in key positions	Company mobile phone, laptop, official travel, telecommuting are offered to all employees in key positions. Depending on the job function and the employer's needs in coordination with the supervisor and the team. Information: Vice - Rectorate for Human Resources and Gender
Continuing education for executives	Tu Wien offers a curriculum, "My Responsibility as an Executive", in order to provide you with the best possible support as an executive. The basis lies in imparting legal and economic "hard facts" necessary for managing a department or division. Information: HR Development and Health

Career advancement

Trainees	TU Wien lays great stress on the quality of training. Occupationally targeted trainers are provided to tutor trainees. Trainee awards are also given out annually.

Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Gender

TU Wien internal employment market The internal platform that informs TU Wien employees exclusively about current vacancy announcements.

Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Gender

TU Wien not only appreciates human diversity but affirms diversity in society and sees it as a resource. Workshops relating to its various dimensions are offered in the form of diversity workshops. Information: HR Development and Health,

Diversity Managment

Work-life balance

Childcare

Inclusiveness

TU Kids & Care organises flexible childcare in the right place and at the right time, and in that way offers a flexible solution as an additional benefit on top of other benefits already in place at TU Wien (kindergarten, pre-kindergarten Information: HR Development and Health. TU Kids & Care

In order to make care possible for parents during school and kindergarten vacations, TU Kids & Care organises vacation programmes for children between the ages of 6 and 14.

Information: HR Development and Health, TU Kids & Care

nursery, parent-child room, etc.) Vacation care

Work-life balance

A web-based information platform on the subjects of sabbatical and parental leave management, especially for parenting leave, maternity leave to parental part-time and re-integration as well as on the subject of care-provider leave.

Handicap- accessible jobs TU Wien professes the equality of people with handicaps and/or chronic illness and creates framework conditions for equal participation of handicapped persons in all academic, research and administrative operations. Information: Confidential handicapped counsellor Gerhard Neustätter Flexibility in working hours In consideration of private interests and obligations TU Wien offers flexible working hour models. The focus of such models (e.g. flex-time, education leave, etc.) is based on personal responsibility and discretionary freedom within certain limits, without endangering operational demands. Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Gender, Labour Relations TU Wien promotes re-integration into the work process after a protracted illness in the form of re-integration part-time. Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Gender, Labour Relations TU Wien grants, in addition to public holidays and the statutorily mandates holiday leave, an additional four free days (Good Friday, 24 and 31 December, All souls on 2 November) Information: Works Council Lunch break arrangements TU Wien supports the lunch break (30 minutes) and this may be counted in as working time. Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Cender, Labour Relations		pare-time and re-integration as well as on the subject of care-provider leave.
ness and creates framework conditions for equal participation of handicapped persons in all academic, research and administrative operations. Information: Confidential handicapped counsellor Gerhard Neustätter In consideration of private interests and obligations TU Wien offers flexible working hour models. The focus of such models (e.g., flex-time, education leave, etc.) is based on personal responsibility and discretionary freedom within certain limits, without endangering operational demands. Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Gender, Labour Relations TU Wien promotes re-integration into the work process after a protracted illness in the form of re-integration part-time. Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Gender, Labour Relations TU Wien grants, in addition to public holidays and the statutorily mandates holiday leave, an additional four free days (Good Friday, 24 and 31 December, All souls on 2 November) Information: Works Council TU Wien supports the lunch break (30 minutes) and this may be counted in as working time. Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Gender, Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Information: Vice- Rectorate for Hu working hour models. The focus of such models (e.g. flex-time, education leave, etc.) is based on personal responsibility and discretionary freedom within certain limits, without endangering operational demands. Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Ggender, Labour Relations TU Wien promotes re-integration into the work process after a protracted illness in the form of re-integration part-time. Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Gender, Labour Relations Four additional days of leave TU Wien grants, in addition to public holidays and the statutorily mandates holiday leave, an additional four free days (Good Friday, 24 and 31 December, All souls on 2 November) Information: Works Council Lunch break arrangements TU Wien supports the lunch break (30 minutes) and this may be counted in as working time. Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Gender,	Handicap- accessible jobs	ness and creates framework conditions for equal participation of handicapped persons in all academic, research and administrative operations.
ress in the form of re-integration part-time. Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Gender, Labour Relations TU Wien grants, in addition to public holidays and the statutorily mandates holiday leave, an additional four free days (Good Friday, 24 and 31 December, All souls on 2 November) Information: Works Council TU Wien supports the lunch break (30 minutes) and this may be counted in as working time. Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Gender,	Flexibility in working hours	working hour models. The focus of such models (e.g. flex-time, education leave, etc.) is based on personal responsibility and discretionary freedom within certain limits, without endangering operational demands. Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Ggender, holiday leave, an additional four free days (Good Friday, 24 and 31 December, All souls on 2 November) Information: Works Council Lunch break arrangements TU Wien supports the lunch break (30 minutes) and this may be counted in as working time. Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Gender,	Re-integration part-time	ness in the form of re-integration part-time. Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Gender, working time. Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Gender,	Four additional days of leave	holiday leave, an additional four free days (Good Friday, 24 and 31 December, All souls on 2 November)
	Lunch break arrangements	working time. Information: Vice- Rectorate for Human Resources and Gender,

Web- based information platform- Roadmap

Staff activities

Health promotion Information: HR Development and Health

Staff outing

Events

Sports programmes

appointments

The programme ranges from various preventive (e.g. check-ups) and medical services (e.g. vaccinations) to psychological ones.

Once a year employees are invited to a one-day staff outing.

GetTUgether, Health Day, DiversityTUDay, mulled wine stand many other things are available to TU Wien employees as networking platforms and information events. TU Wien likewise supports social projects such as the "Red Noses Run" - joining forces for a good cause.

University Health Promotion means more than just medical care. TU Wien supports its employees by means of "sporting activities" in order to stay healthy. The programmes range from cooperation with ASKÖ (Austrian Working Group onal psychology consultation sessions, anonymously and at no cost.

Information: Works Council, Human Resources Administration

Information: HR Development and Health

Information: HR Development and Health,

Occuptional Medicine

University Health Promotion

for Sports and Physical Fitness) to yoga through to reduced fitness studio dues. Information: HR Development and Health Occupational psychology consultation TU Wien employees have the opportunity of arranging for individual occupati-

*) Provided financing is available

) Employees covered by collective bargaining agreements with more than two years employment with TU Wien.